2. Choose a player to be the first judge.

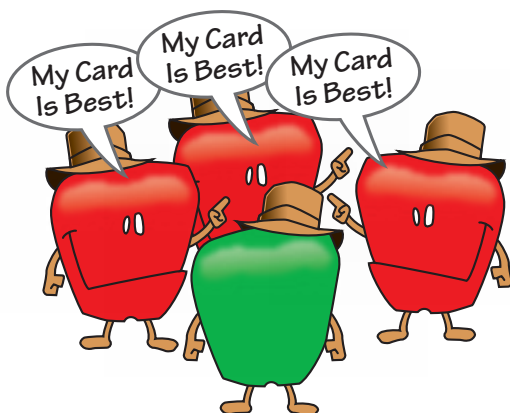

3. The judge deals five red apple cards, face down, to each player (including him or herself). Players may look at their cards.

PLAYING THE GAME

1. The judge takes a green apple card from the top of the stack, reads the word aloud, and places it face up on the table.
2. All players (except the judge) choose the red apple card from their hand that is best described by the word on the green apple card and place their card face down on the table.
3. The judge turns over each red apple card and reads it aloud.
4. Now it's time to make your case to the judge. Players should explain why their card is the perfect fit and try to convince the judge to choose it. "Table talk" is one of the most important – and hilarious – parts of the game!
5. After hearing all the explanations, the judge selects the red apple card he or she thinks is best described by the green apple card. The person who played the red apple card is awarded the green apple card. To keep score, players keep green apple cards they've won on the table until the end of the game.
6. Place all red apple cards played during the round in a discard pile.
7. The card decks and the role of judge pass to the player on the left. The new judge deals enough red apple cards to bring each player's hand back up to five, turns over another green apple card and the next round begins.

WINNING THE GAME

The first player to collect 5 green apple cards wins the game!
