Meet Lea!

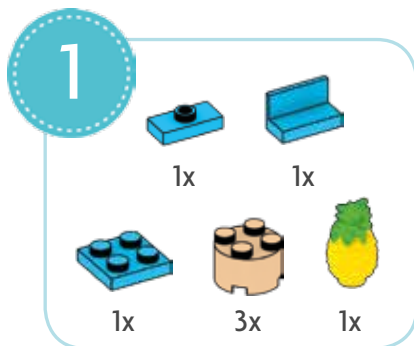

Girl of the Year® Lea Clark is eager to go on big adventures! When her family travels to Brazil, Lea volunteers at an animal sanctuary, where she cares for exotic animals. Sometimes she even goes into the rainforest to rescue animals in need!

START SMALL, THEN BUILD BIG!

Begin by building the pieces that you'll use in both Lea's Animal Sanctuary and her Watchtower Rescue.

Lea's Animal Sanctuary

Girl of the Year® Lea Clark loves animals and adventure. When she and her family travel to Brazil, Lea gets both! In the rainforest there are sloths, parrots, sea turtles, monkeys, and a type of cat called a margay.

She dives into every new adventure.

With her new friend Camila, Lea volunteers at an animal sanctuary. They help the veterinarian care for injured animals and nurse them back to health. Lea uses the laptop to keep track of each animal's progress.

Lea's favorite job is watching the animals exercise. The margay climbs down a tree headfirst, but the sloth is slow to move.

"You need to be at full-strength before the vet will release you into the wild," Lea says to the sloth, watching it climb the tree, too. The next thing Lea knows, the sloth is hanging upside down, clutching a tree branch with its feet. "Woah," says Lea. "That looks pretty good to me!"

Lea explores what's in her heart.

Lea is a photographer, and animals are her favorite subject. She uses her pictures in the blog she writes for her friends back home. "My best photos happen when I look at things from a new angle," she writes. "It's not easy getting eye level with a sea turtle. But it's worth it!"

Lea's Watchtower Rescue

Girl of the Year® Lea Clark is courageous and ready for action. When she travels to Brazil with her family, she volunteers at an animal sanctuary, where veterinarians care for sick and injured animals.

Her adventurous spirit always leads the way.

Today Lea and her friend Camila are at the watchtower. Lea's peering through the telescope when she spots a baby margay by the base of a tree. Why is it alone? she wonders. I'd better tell the vet. When the doctor invites the girls to ride along and check out the scene, Lea runs for the rescue vehicle.

"I'll get the first aid kit," says Lea. "Wow! I never thought vacation would be this exciting!"

Lea loves all animals—feathered, funny, slippery, or slimy.

The baby margay is injured, and it needs to be examined. As Lea hurries toward the mobile vet tent, she sees two monkeys watching her from a tree. She spots a toucan and sea turtles by the ocean. And, wait—is that a sloth hanging from a branch? The sanctuary cares for so many different animals in Brazil, she thinks. I wonder what else I can do to help?
