Welcome to the Imaginext® System

Younger children & those new to the Imaginext® System

Use our step-by-step instructions to build the structure shown on the cover of this booklet. Encourage your child to assist you with some of the simple steps. This assembly is ideal for active play and it can be used as a playset rather than a building toy.

Older children and experienced Imaginext® System users

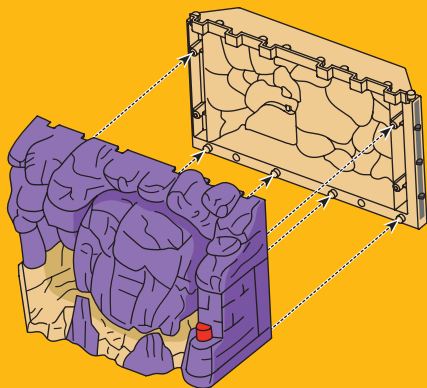

The more your child plays with this toy, and development and skill increases, the less assistance your child needs! Experienced Imaginext® users will enjoy using all parts of this toy to build their own structures or try building an alternate assembly shown below.

The colors and decorations of the product may sometimes vary from these instructions.
